PROLOGUE

Good Reader, while turning through these pages, should you recall your high school years, remember the classmates who traveled with you; for recorded here are not the acts of individuals but the deeds of an entire class working side by side. We, the Class of '44, are graduated into a world at war, striving together to attain a world at peace. Once we have reached our goal, we shall seek the arts of peace. The dreams and aspirations which we have formed in school will once more become our major aims, and towards these aims shall we direct our common strength.

SUPERLATIVES

GLEANINGS FROM . . .

Phyl comes in as Most Popular with Jean Holmes and Jackie Darcy not very far behind her in second and third places respectively. Oh Colonel, my Colonel! Colonel Malone steals honors as our Most Popular boy. Our president and basketball captain, however, aren't too far behind.

Lola Black's effective posters win her first place as Most Artistic. Jessie Vieira and Marilyn Silveira come in a close second and third. Steve Patil wins almost unanimously as Most Artistic, with Gerald Silveira and Charlie Perkins trailing along in second and third place.

Bette Hall our super-secretary wins honors as Most Practical with no apparent effort. However, Jean Holmes runs a good second with Marie Ellery coming in third only one vote behind Jean. Danny Davis, our Lt. Colonel, takes the honors as our Most Practical boy with Jimmy Mellow and Dave Lane next in line.

Ah—Romance! Fran Eldridge, Phyl Douglas and Ruth Bicknell ran neck-and-neck until the last stretch. In the finals, however, Fran beat, with Phyl close at her heels and Ruthie bringing up the rear. Ralph (Nelson Eddy) Lowe heads the list as our Most Romantic boy. Could it be that thrilling voice that influenced the votes? Oh, here's our Colonel again, holding down second romantic position. (Is he, Phyl?) In third place is East Gloucester's own Ed Klotz.

Gert Fosberry is our Most Agreeable gal. (Was that a masculine hand that added "And how!" after Gert's name?) Also very agreeable are Jackie and Phyl Douglas. Jimmy Mellow wins the spot as Most Agreeable boy. Gerald, third place winner says, "What's agreeable about Mellow?" Malone, our second placer, just smiles agreeably.

"I object!" says Polly Doucette. "I'm not argumentative!" Marie argues she's more argumentative, and our third placer Midge Green just argues on general principles. Our third Most agreeable male wins overwhelmingly first place as Most Argumentative. That's versatility for you! "It's an outrage!" argues our second placer — Ralph Lowe. Dick Hunte grumbles over being chosen third.

The judges of our contest for G. H. S.'s Most Attractive girl pick Louise Selig, first; Fran El- dridge, second; and Mary Baker following only three votes behind Fran in third place. Our football hero Eddie McKay takes first honors as our Most Attractive boy with Donovan and Cooney tied for second place and Eddie Klotz holding down third place.

Our very efficient class secretary, Miss Holmes, grabs off first place but Bette Hall is but one vote behind. In third place is the Flash's Co-Editor Marie Ellery. Dick Peterson, Dan Davis, and Jimmy Mellow hold down first, second and third place as our Most Efficient boys.

Blushingly, Louise Maddix accepts first place as Most Bashful. Arlene Spidell and Ina Frye demurely accept honorable mention. Didn't think there was such a thing as a bashful boy? Guess again, girls—there are many. Freeman Corkum, Bill Gibson, and Dick Clark, our first, second and third place winners are just a few.

Dare-devil Black wins by a landslide first place as Most Daring, with Irene McCollum, Sis Kervellas and Jacky Darcy coming in next. Mischievous Fran Kerepka, John Curley, Eddie Alves represent the male population of G.H.S. as Most Daring.

Our own Erminie wins first place as Most Talented, with Marie coming in second. Third are Sarah Ann, Jackie Darcy, Mary Dagle, and Carolyn Hull each with two votes. Romantic Lowe also comes in as Most Talented with Don Oakes not far behind. In third place is Jimmy Mellow.

Florence Whynott wins hands down as our Most Naive girl with Priscilla Beeman and Sarah Ann trailing behind. Bashful Freeman Corkum gulps hard and accepts first place as Most Naive with Jimmy Mellow and Cristy Kopanon not too far behind.

"Glammar Gal" Selig also is Most Sophisticated with Clare Saunders and Fran next in line. Jimmy Mellow, also second Most Naive wins highest honors as Most Sophisticated. You explain it. I give up! Dick Hunte and Dave Lane, both suave, occupy the next highest positions.

Our genial co-editor of the Flash wins Most Literary with apparently no effort. Next, is our Beacon Editor and in third place is someone named Doucette. How did she sneak in? Another Co-editor, our most sophisticated Jimmy Mellow wins with Co-editor Silveira and romantic Lowe next.

Well shut my mouth! Guess who's Most Talkative? Many votes behind chatter Jessie and Bev. Here's that man again! Silveira talks his way right into first place as Most Talkative with Hunte and Lowe (not again!) gabbing along merrily in the next place.

Back again is McCollum almost unanimously chosen as Most Musical. "Also rans" were Essex's own Jean Cogswell and Lanesville's Ruth Bicknell. He's back again. Lowe (The Great Noise) as Most Musical with Don Oakes only four votes behind him. Sinatra polled five votes, but was nosed out of third place by Jack Day with six.

Darcy, George, and Fosberry come in win, place and show as Wittiest. Our genial president grabs off honors as wittiest and Silveira falls out of his chair when informed he is next in line. Mellow, ever with Silveira (is it love?) is our third great wit. ("Half wit?" queries Gerry.)

Without a sound Phyllis Powers accepts first place Quietest with Arlene and Jean Davis and Ruth Hill quietly holding down honorable mention. Bill Gibson, Freeman Corkum and Charles Morrissey are our Most Quiet boys.

Louise Cox yawns lazily and relaxes on her throne as Laziest, while her ladies-in-waiting, Gerry Greenwood, Ginny Plunkett and Flossie Whynott doze at her feet. The football team grab off all three places as Laziest with Klotz, Cook, and Kerepka winning. K. Cameron receives honorable mention and a portable pillow.

Our sophisticated, attractive damsel again appears in the public eye as Best Groomed with Jean Holmes and artistic Lola Black next. "Clothes make the man." Here are the men whose taste in clothes win them the three highest positions on the final ballot — Cooney, Mellow (that reindeer sweater, no doubt) and Alves.

Our athletes, male and female, are, in order named, Bob Malone, Jack Curley, Eddie McKay, Ginny Plunkett, Sis Karvellas, and Phyl Douglass.

An "Oscar" to G.H.S.'s best actress, Fran Eldridge, and a consolation prize of Katherine Cornell's book "I Wanted to Be An Actress" to our honorable mention winners, Calladare and Bicknell. Ralph "Orson" Lowe wins the Academy award as the outstanding actor of the year, with Dick Hunte and Fran Kerepka playing supporting roles.

Ellery noses out Ireland and Andrews as Class Genius. Here they are again — The Inseparable Three—Mellow, Silveira, and Lowe winning the three top positions as Class Geniuses.

Lucky girls! Karl is almost unanimously chosen as God's Gift to the Women, with "Orson" Lowe second with 6 votes and Lt. McNerny and Dick Hunte tied in third place with five votes each.

What's this—female Casanovas? Looks like it. Midge Green, Ruth Bicknell and Bev Black all polled a number of votes. Eddie Alves, Eddie Klotz, and Fran Kerepka head the list of male Casanovas.

Sarah Ann is chosen Cutest with Marilyn Haines only four votes behind. Honorable mention goes to our baby, Dot Tarr. With all the cute boys in G.H.S. it was hard to make a decision. However Duddy, Jerome and Eddie McKay were finally chosen the victors.

As Most Likely to Succeed are Marie, Sarah Ann and Jean Holmes in the order named. Occupying the three top rungs on the ladder to success are Jimsy, "Orson," and Dave Lane.

With a cheerful grin on her face Polly Doucette accepts the title of Most Cheerful with Jacky Darcy and Betty Brown only a few votes behind. Leading the list of cheerful boys is our president, with Curley and Gerry Silveira cheerfully bringing up the rear.

Barnum seems to have much talent to choose from here in G.H.S. with Louise Cox, Ginny Plunkett, Gerry Amero and Polly Doucette on hand. Karl wins by a landslide of votes with Cristy and Duddy tagging playfully after him with five and eight votes.

Amongst those seniors who have done a lot for the class are Marie (Youth Center) Ellery with the majority of the votes, and Jacky and Sarah polling many votes also. Heading the list of boys who have accomplished much for the class of 1944 is Gerald Silveira. Not too far behind is Ralph. Two votes less, Jimmy comes in third.

CLASS

The Relican Muesum,
2206 Hanging Lip Falls,
Noo Yorrk, N. Y.

Glowchester, Hunkachusetts,
June 11, 5944.

Dear Sir:

As you know, during the past four years, I have been excavating among the ruins of what was once presumably a High School near the prehistoric city of what-was-then-called Gloucester. Among said ruins, I stumbled on a musty, rather odorous, old document which I think is valuable enough for presentation to your museum. Evidently a history of some ancient class, it is a manuscript about which I can truthfully say, basing my convictions on my many years of travel and experience, is the most unusual and unique history I have ever encountered. As you examine the tattered pages you will find that these unusual people possessed a rare sense of humor which manifested itself in rather dubious ways. A perusal of its contents, however, should provide not a few moments of factual pleasure.

Trusting that this small contribution will shed valuable light on these aborigines and their habits, I remain as always

Your obedient servant,
Elmer J. Fossilius

R. O. T. C.

By some strange coincidence, the class of '44 was outstanding in military affairs. During our sophomore year, the first drill that found the class represented was the Guard Mount which included J. Day, E. Alves, W. Edson, W. Gibson, C. Kopanon, R. Lowe, R. Bruce, M. Cooney, D. Davis, J. Pimental, and G. Silveira. Although it was three days before Silveira found out that the Guard Mount was a drill and not a horse, each member covered himself with glory. At the following party, a crack R. O. T. C. band prize squad, assisted by J. Day and R. Clark marched off with the honors, much to the chagrin of the regiment. Then, adding to his previous successes, R. Clark took third place in the Haskell drill on Field Day. At the same time, D. (Robert Jordan) Lane was awarded the sophomore medal for military excellence, and lanky B. (Daniel Boone) Malone took the award for rifle marksmanship.

With this conspicuous record in mind, our class promptly stepped out on the wrong foot to further its laurels. At the second party of our Junior year, E. Larkin and B. Malone captured third and second places respectively in the manual of arms. J. Pimental, the "Vic Mature of the Tuckersize", substituting for E. McKay, scored an amazing upset by winning first place; and it was not until a week later that Jerome realized what had happened. Then W. Edson scored by leading a snappy Co. B prize squad to victory over squads led by such military geniuses as J. Day, E. Alves, B. Malone, R. Lowe, and G. Silveira. Afternote: Silveira, in disgust, changed the name of his group to prize scrod. During the course of the classic Field Day exercises, Alves won the coveted first prize, Malone squeezed into second place, and Lowe, by some mistake, "Sinatraeized" into third place. Also, Mellow extinguished himself by anticipating commands. On the same memorable day B. Malone, staggering under a chestload of medals, added another marksmanship award, assisted by E. McKay.

After the exit of the senior officers, B. Malone was appointed "chief cook and bottle washer", with D. Davis second in command. Majors Lane, Cooney, and McKay presided over the companies led by Clark, Day, Alves, Mellow, Lowe, Goodick, and Bowen. Silveira, Kerepka, Curley, Brennan, Taliadoros, McKechnie, Pimental, Donovan, Parker, Anderson and Broad supervised the platoons, while Corkum, Bouchie, and Bruce were assigned to the staffs. Captain W. Edson was regimental adjutant.

Except for two momentary flourishes when they stretched their creaky joints and waved their rusty sabers, the officers were content to rest upon their laurels and so pass into history.

THE GLEE CLUBS

The Glee Club activities of the senior class were very outstanding, even if we do make the statement ourselves. Although it was not until our second year that we really got rolling, the class of '44 produced a wide assortment of Nelson Eddys and Grace Moores (no relation of Miss E. F. Moore). At our first Christmas concert presentation, Ralph Lowe, Jr. warbled incoherently while Irene McCollum cluttered up the chorus. Then after a five months' pause in which the Gloucester audiences recuperated, certain members of the class again dared to participate in an opus by Gilbert and Sullivan, called "Trial by Jury." Ralph Lowe, Jr. appeared as the usher (meaning, of course, his role in the production), and such class beauties as Eleanor Karvellas, William Edson, Christopher Kopanon, and Irene McCollum found, or rather, lost their places in the chorus. During that memorable year, Ralph Lowe, Jr. also represented the class by singing with the famed Apollo Club of Boston in Symphony Hall. (Did I say memorable?—Perhaps we should forget it).

Our Junior Christmas concert saw new talent consisting of Mary Baker, Dorothy Tarr, Jean Cogswell, Ruth Bicknell, Lois Ireland, Dorothy Dagle, Louise Selig, and appearing with the old ones, R. L., I. M., E. K. and Yehudi. It was in this year, also, that the class won its most outstanding honors in the field of music through the grand production, "Erminie". In this opus, Ralph Lowe, Jr. hard on the heels of his comic success in "Trial by Jury" followed through in the humorous role of Raviennes. Irene McCollum was given the feminine lead as the beautiful and talented Erminie. David Lane appeared as a Louis XIV period "Frank Sinatra"; Ruth Bicknell played a very sweet village girl; James Brennan was a dashing "non-com"; and Richard Hunte scored as Msr. Des Nailles. Frances Eldridge and Robert Low lent a supporting hand in the orchestra. At the Spring Music Festival, Ralph Lowe, Jr. and "Lennie" Leal brought honor to the class by receiving ratings of "Superior" and "Good" respectively, for their solo numbers.

The Senior Christmas concert soloists were many, including Jean Cogswell, Ruth Bicknell, Irene McCollum, Ralph Lowe, Jr., Dorothy Tarr, and Rosalie Doucette. Instead of resting on their laurels, the class of '44 exited in a blaze of glory and triumph with the Spring concert featuring "Americana" and the Music Festival finding "Superior" ratings prevalent.

P. S. Frankie Sinatra only rated "Fair."

HISTORY

STEVENS BOOK REVIEWERS

The class of '44 was well represented in this department. Although G. Silveira and J. Mellow psycho-analyzed themselves into membership during their junior year, most of the others, to wit: M. Ellery, D. Lane, M. Cooney, R. Lowe and S. Andrews were admitted as seniors. In the course of the year, teas were held at the homes of various members, and after three meetings M. Ellery was finally able to balance a tea cup according to the best Silveirian etiquette. Feature of one of the meetings was Lowe's running narrative of Scheherezade until it tripped over Miss Harris' gag.

During the year, punctuated by sensational publicity ranging from wolf calls to Frankie Sinatra, two highly successful book reviews were held in which the nation's best-sellers were mutilated. But after the smoke had cleared, the library found itself richer by several excellent books, because of which the entire senior class, excluding the already inflated capacity of G. S., expanded with pride.

FRENCH CLASS

For four long years now, many of us have been hearing about that memorable classe de francais which convened somewhere in the vicinity of room 120. "Duddy" Cooney was the star pupil, and donated generously to the Rosen Red Cross approximately $3.50 per annum.

One of the most impressionistic visions engraved upon our memoirs is that of J. Mellow trying to psycho-analyze those great French philosophers, about which we know something, we hope. L. Cox furnished an infinite source of amusement bargaining with Duddy for 'just one more dime'. Shall we ever forget S. George trying to force a stubborn tongue to recite a resume, and F. Eldridge wrangling to top Monsieur Rosen's puns? Ah, those were joyous hours! Remember Sarah Ann pleading with us to say 'say' instead of 'sez'? Laud and honor go to Jessie Vicra who, had she not been faithful to her text books, would have prevented those shining A's which some of us received. (Which some?); and to Margie Best and Ew Mesnik without whose laughs our corn would not have flourished!

A toast to Mr. Rosen, and Vive la Classe!!

GIRLS' VICTORY CORPS

The Victory Corps Drill Team originated during our junior year in G.H.S. It was composed of girls who successfully outflanked their competitors in gym classes and almost immediately after its founding was taken under the wing of Sgt. Tucker. Gruelling rehearsals, leaving the female regiment breathless and flat footed, proved successful in making a platoon whose every command was carried out with exact precision. (Also successful in slimming hip and waist lines.) Its first demonstration was at the second Officer's party of '43, when 27 girls under the Leadership of Miss Savage, amazed and won reserved admiration of the many spectators at the party. Following this were two street parades, again showing the girls immaculate in their white pleated skirts and white blouses with red accessories. The second of these parades was on Field Day of that same year when each girl proudly marched with the platoon in front of the R.O.T.C. Regiment. A position, in their estimation, of great honor. 1944 saw only six of the senior girls left on the drill team. They were: Lt. Eleanor Karvellas, Sgts. Louise Selig, and Midge Green, and Pvts. Beverly Black, Ruth Bicknell, and Nancy Clark. Drilling at the second party was becoming an annual affair as we "strutted our stuff" for the second consecutive year. Again we brought the house down, drilling even better than the previous year. In the future yet to come the Victory Corps Drill Team can and will prove itself colorful and indispensable to the military of G.H.S.

HIT PIN

Hit pin has proved itself a favorite afternoon sport with boys as well as girls during our four years in high school. Our senior year especially has been a happy one as far as the game is concerned. It has been a battle of the sexes in the gym with the officers of the R. O. T. C. versus the more athletic senior girls. On the male team, who incidentally did not always win, Dave Lane, Ralph Lowe, Cooney, Brennan, Bouchie, Alves, Edson, Davis, and others displayed great talent in booting with their left foot. Among the gentler sex we observed L. Cox, Black, Plunkett, Green, Karvellas, N. Clark, Haines, Bicknell, and S. Andrews, and S. George, who also could handle a ball and who gave the boys a good run for their money.

CLASS HISTORY

At the annual class election, the "vox populi" popped overwhelmingly in favor of Dud Cooney, popular and versatile senior. Bob "Throttlebottom" Malone (what again) was the choice for Vice-President. Jimmy Mellow was our treasurer, so that's what hapened to the treasury. We found the perfect secretary to be Jean Holmes.

We were justly proud of Jim Mellow who represented us when he was elected Vice-President of the Eastern Massachusetts Scholastic Press Association.

YOUTH CENTER

In January of that fateful year of '44 the silent streets of Gloucester suddenly became animated as a gathering of laughing students joyfully pranced into what was to be their new haven, after tussles with homework were finished. It was that celebrated location, the Youth Center. Prominent in this group was Marie Ellery, chairman of the practically non-existent general committee. After one of those Ellery pep-talks, we donned our old clothes and diligently attempted to wash those dingy walls, through which Gerald promised us we'd soon see our reflections. We scrubbed floors, washed windows and walls, sand-papered chairs, tore down shelves, and hammered nails. Leroy Spittal was particularly helpful, and with the aid of some paint and some co-operative shop-boys, the two rooms were rejuvenated.

It seemed that we carried all the dirt with us as we left after working hours to drop into Teddy's for that life-giving Coke.

Ah, those were the days! To think, that after all these years, remains of the Youth Center may still be found! !

SENIOR TEA DANCE

The Senior Tea Dance, held on December 9, 1943 was a dignified and pleasant affair. Sponsored by the Senior girls, the preparations were made by the different homeroom representatives acting as a committee. Even though Leap Year was a month away, (in typical Gloucester style) the boys were invited by the girls.

ACTIVITIES

School years without extra-curricular activities would soon escape our memories. Fortunately, we seniors have had our share of the "outside" work which makes the years recorded here well worth remembering. If in the future G.H.S. alumni should meet together, may they recall the activities in which each took his part. The Officer's parties, the Glee Club concerts, the Dramatics Club presentations, the Book Reviewers Library Benefits: may these be remembered when old friends meet.

Pictured here are the activities over which we presided and in which we reigned supreme.

MASTERY THROUGH PRACTICE

LEARNING BY DOING

HANDS and TOOLS

CLASS CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

- 13—Freshmen trampled by hordes of seniors in rush to recess line.
- 14—Freshmen retaliate; Kopanon, Day and M. Calledare immediately carried to health suite.
- 15—Mr. Colman introduces seniors to the mystery hour—B block physics class.
- 16—R.O.T.C. uniforms distributed; new recruit mistakes Short's pants for a pup-tent. Short, hurt, tries a smaller size.
- 17—Bowen asks Donovan when next vacation starts.
- 20—Alves loses Mr. Rosen's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme." Alves without delay transfers to study.
- 21—Another mystery hour. Miss Crawley explains metric system.
- 22—Perkins claims he has received an offer from M.G.M. Could it be he is to replace Boris Karloff?
- 23—Bruce declares Mr. Twomey's gym classes unconstitutional; claims his constitution can't stand it.
- 24—M. Haines comes to school for first time, bewildered at how she thought it was only the first of August.
- 27—Parker does his first physics experiment. Reported missing; room 108, B block physics class and Mr. Colman.
- 28—P-38 sights unidentified classroom hovering over Boston.
- 29—Room 108 makes perfect three point landing on cafeteria roof. Parker still in Boston.
- 30—P. Douglas envies mud-packs Malone gets at football practice.

OCTOBER

- 1—Miss Mears tells her German class to skip lines 75-100 in Thursday's assignment. Lane up all night translating lines 75-100.
- 4—Miss Gale welcomes Honor society members; tells them of much work to be done.
- 5—Mr. Johnson and Miss Gale confer on new Honor society members.
- 6—Topic at first Round Table meeting involves "Fourth Term." Miss Burke is unsuccessful trying to separate Lowe and Silveira.
- 7—Deadline for first issue of "Flash." Mr. Cameron asks the three "musket-editors" if they intend to spend the evening in room 218.
- 8—Short claims loss of 10 lbs. emerging from gym class.
- 9—Saturday—"Flash" appears. Public foregoes "Don Winslow" for "Who's Who."
- 11—Lowe discovers "Squam and F. Eldridge. "Ode to Frances" soon to appear in book form.
- 12—Clare Saunders and J. Holmes spend mornings working in the bank. Business up 25%. Mr. Thompson is baffled but we know why.
- 13—B. Black in Mr. Wilder's history class is indignant over the fact that the Lone Ranger is not mentioned in U.S. history.
- 14—R.O.T.C. in parade for Army Relief. Brennan wishes the relief was for his feet.
- 15—Broad sent by Mr. Colman to Miss Rundquist for some ice. Cameron sent for Broad.
- 18—Silveira, in study of poetry, accuses Miss Harris of prejudice. Refuses to be influenced by her taste.
- 19—Air raid drill. A. Anderson, looking for shelter, hides in locker.
- 20—Assembly on Guatemala. "Sis" Karvellas believes it would be a good place to spend A block.
- 21—Mr. Hodsdon complains about noise coming from his lockers. Anderson's mother reports her son has been kidnapped.
- 22—Mr. Colby lets Anderson out of locker; Anderson sues for damages.
- 25—Deadline for 300 lines of poetry to be memorized by College English. M. Green transfers to commercial course.
- 26—Miss Londergon demands F block in library be quiet. Poor J. Vierra suffers throughout the period in silence.
- 27—Assembly on Alaska. "Sis" Karvellas decides Alaska might be better after all.
- 28-29—Ration book No. 4 comes out. B. White and J. Holmes ask for extra ration books in payment for their services.
- 31—Lane guesses questions to be given by Miss Harris in English test. Lowe requests the answers also. Miss Harris objects.

NOVEMBER

- 1—Somebody yells "shift!" I. McCullum blushes.
- 2—Miss Crawley again explains metric system.
- 3—Davia seen in Woolworth's basement. Is he doing his Christmas shopping already?
- 4—Mellow, reading Dante's "Inferno," says, "This sure is hot stuff."
- 5—M. Green tells us her mother feeds her bullets so her hair will come out in bangs.
- 8—Round Table debates on whether Miss Burke should have a new dictionary.
- 9—Mother-daughter banquet; main topic—boys.
- 10—L. Cox goes to see "For Whom the Bell Tolls."
- 11—L. Cox comes to school with hair a la Ingrid Bergman.
- 12—We sleep. Teachers' convention; no school.
- 15—Miss Crawley explains that darkness is the absence of all light. L. Selig claims it's the presence of a beau.

- 16—Malone and Davis preoccupied with Phil and Theo. Regiment seen disappearing over river bank into the Annisquam.
- 17—Trig class looks knowingly as Miss Tufts reviews tangents, cosines and sines. General review test given.
- 18—Miss Tufts corrects tests of trig class; confers with Mr. Parkhurst, head of math department, and decides to reissue Algebra I books to all except Kopanon.
- 19—Kopanon gets 8th grade arithmetic refresher.
- 22—Snow storm. No school. Our delegation to the North Shore matinee was in a panic when the lights went on suddenly.
- 23—Officers and their lady friends appear at gym at 7:30 P.M. for repeat performance of grand march for coming party.
- 24—Encore grand march at 7:30 P.M.
- 25—Thanksgiving! G.H.S. fans pack Manning Bowl and forego their turkey wings and drumsticks for our Eleven. It was a sad day. We lost.
- 26—First Officers' party! All is forgiven, Sgt. Tucker, for the way you made us practice the grand march.
- 29—Girls promenade with wilted orchids, gardenias, roses and dandelions. Where did Davis get the dandelions this time of year?
- 30—Cook is aghast as he finds a piece of ham in his sandwich.

DECEMBER

- 1—Swooner Sinatra at R.K.O. Boston theater. Senior girl absenteeism hits all time high.
- 2—Starry-eyed A. Webber squeals at the very thoughts of her all-day stay, yesterday, at the R.K.O.
- 3—D. Tarr sneaks two pats of butter at recess. Miss Lunderville asks for two red points.
- 6—Miss Crawley is still on the metric system.
- 7—Everybody buys bonds and stamps. Pearl Harbor Day!!!
- 8—Mellow and Silveira deny accusation of P. Doucette of corrupted political machine. Claim welfare of class is their sole interest.
- 9—Senior tea. P. Douglas asks Malone when they are going to serve the tea. Bob doesn't know either.
- 10—Pimental, as he balances Miss Smith's books, states he doesn't believe in the conventional methods of arithmetic.
- 13—Miss Smith keeps Pimental for afternoon session as she teaches him multiplication tables. Jerome marvels at her genius.
- 14—L. Ireland worriedly asks, "Do you know what the percentage of wolves is in this country? It's one out of every man!"
- 15—Absenteeism again hits new level. Senior boys carry overflowing Christmas mail.
- 16—Small blonde freshman, Clarence Laing, is hit of annual Christmas concert. Lowe seen sulking backstage.
- 17—Promotions! Mr. Rosen states Cooney is now a major problem.
- 18-28—Christmas vacation. O how we love Santa Claus.
- 29—S. George is absent. Could it be she is still playing with her Christmas toys or is it because her drama report is due?
- 30—Miss Hammons asks Bouchie to cover his yellow and purple tie. He claims it was a gift.
- 31—New Year's Eve! Seniors en masse leave English and math homework for a bit of whoopee. Is that a red nose on Kerepka?

JANUARY

- 3—We still have that morning-after look. Edson asks what day it is.
- 4—All resolutions broken.
- 5—Captains Goodick and Bowen seen sticking tongues at each other. They're really serious about the Bachelor trophy, aren't they?
- 6—A good friend returns to G.H.S. Colonel Shum is presented to the regiment.
- 7—Unlucky Friday! No school; Cooney loses a diamond (ring?); our basketball team loses to Lynn English.
- 10—Zager, playing straight man, asks Pimental who gave him his new "shiner." Jerome retorts, "What do you mean who gave it to me? I had to fight for it."
- 11—Wonsan decides Mr. Frigard's course in aeronautics is off the beam.
- 12—Wonsan is told to get on Mr. Frigard's beam or get out of class. All is serene in Mr. Frigard's aeronautics course once again.
- 13—Burnham says he would like to be stationed in London once he is drafted. He'll like it. He's always been in a fog anyway.
- 14—Publicity campaign of coming library benefit is under full swing with commercials monopolizing Mr. Johnson's "half-hour."
- 17—Curley, W. Burns and R. McNeil are graduated and receive diplomas prior to their induction into the navy. The best of luck, gang.
- 18—Spelling lists appear in "Times." Ilunte decides they are not worth while saving.
- 19—Reviewers' library benefit has them standing in the aisles. Not trying to leave, we hope.

20—Oakes decides to study astronomy on his way to School mornings.

21—"O what a beautiful morning!" It's Friday, the end of one of our busiest weeks.

24—Spelling begins in class. Hunte spells abattoir with a "twar." Miss Harris tells him he had better buy the back issues of the "Times."

25—"The Battle of Russia" shown to regiment. We prefer this to "The Battle of the Second Recess Line."

26—Another early commencement! H. Greene, Holmes, Kerepka, Linquata, and Stropole.

27—Officers' picture is taken. Hunte proxies for Curley.

28—"Mairzy doats and doozy doats and littlelamzy divy" echoes through the sacred halls of G.H.S.

31—Anticipation—CARDS—Calamity!

FEBRUARY

1—The serious minded physics class in 108 delves deep into the mysteries of fudge making. Miss Lunderville comes to the rescue much to Mr. Colman's embarrassment.

2—The Round Table decides what to do with the world after the war.

3—The Regiment and band brave the cold and snow to wish farewell to a group of our draftees.

4—What prominent seniors were from 1 to 3:30 A.M. fixing a flat tire? Consult the class history.

7—Seniors roll up their pants, let down their hair and grab a brush down at the Youth Center as they scrub it clean.

8—Hunte: Do pug noses run in your family? Sarah Ann: Only in cold weather.

9—Graduation pictures begin to circulate in increasing numbers. Several are confiscated by Mr. Parkhurst and added to his rogue's gallery.

10—Miss Harris asks English IV to write business letters. Lane flunks as he mistakenly passes in letter beginning "Dearsy Lambsy Pie!"

11—Miss Crawley, never giving up hope, again begins the metric system.

14—Mellow in coup d'etat is ousted as president of N.H.S. Davis succeeds him.

15—Once again officers and their best girls practice the grand march late into the afternoon in preparation for coming party.

16—Clark reads that fish is brain food and decides to go whaling.

17—Chairman of class gift, motto and banquet committees and class speakers are chosen. Graduation is but a short time off.

18—R.O.T.C. officers and girls' Victory Corps shine at second annual party.

21-25—A well deserved vacation—we think.

28—Corporal Powers gives out with the boogie woogie to appreciative officers.

29—This is the day that makes 1944 Leap Year. All boys are on their guard today but there are no surprise attacks from the femmes.

MARCH

1—Mr. Greely: Thousands of germs can thrive on the point of a needle. Patil: What an odd diet.

2—Sarah Ann is really serious about becoming a doctor. She has already collected over one hundred old magazines.

3—Miss Hammons is shocked by the unexpected politeness of History of Our Times class. She asked only fourteen times to have the room quiet.

6—Seniors try to look as young and naive as freshmen as attempts are made to collect class dues and money for Flicker cuts.

7—N. Clark pays for her lunch with ration tokens.

8—Mrs. Clark figures it is cheaper to give Nancy money to pay for her lunches.

9—Cameron again seen in Mr. Colman's office at 1:40. Is he eager for a knowledge of physics or was he chewing gum again.

10—S. Douglas put on Mr. Cameron's blacklist as he breaks his third milk bottle of the year.

13—Greel joins Douglas.

14—F. Eldridge applies at Sears & Roebucks for her driver's license, saying it was recommended to her by a friend. Sarah Ann?

15—Miss Gale: Now you know what a symposium is. Gray: Most of us do, at least those that have any interest in music at all.

16—That brilliant lad Peterson comes up with another statement of facts: the man who invented life-savers made a mint.

17—J. Darcy was very embarrassed today in biology. Reason: Mr. Lane (rapping on desk): Order, please. Jackie: A chocolate frappe for me.

20—Several stomach-conscious seniors start a campaign for a roast turkey dinner for the class banquet.

21—Chairman of Banq. Com.? announces that we will probably have baked cod.

22—Sophisticated seniors show much disgust as Miss Harris highly praises "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass."

23—Cooney announces he would be interested in knowing where he might get some black market gas.

24—O.P.A. official calls at 5 Cedar Street but Mr. and Mrs. Cooney deny any relationship with this other Cooney.

27—Dud walks to school.

28—M. Stanwood claims to have seen a robin this morning. A. Webber says it was only a crow.

29—It rained cats and dogs today and J. Holmes say she stepped in a poodle.

30—Polly Doucette breaks all school records for tardiness by arriving three minutes after dismissal bell.

31—Polly tells the one about the alarm clock not going off. We look on silently but knowingly.

APRIL

1—A day dedicated to all us seniors—all fools' day.

3—It's spring again and we're on the wing again—with those long hikes to the Common and Goodharhor.

4—9:40 A.M. Sis Karvellas daydreams in Miss Harris' English class. 1:40 P.M. Sis daydreams in Mr. Parsons' office.

5—The weather man wasn't kidding when he predicted those April showers. We're all a little water-logged.

6—Malone goes out for spring football practice thinking he will be captain again next year but is quickly benched by DelTorchio.

7—No school—Good Friday.

10—The day after Easter. All the girls look fresh and chic in their new bonnets but the boys smell of mothballs from last year's spring suit.

11—Jessie V.: My favorite tree is any kind of spruce. Arline S.: My favorite is any kind of pas-try.

12—Flash!—Flanagan seen without Shirley.

13—Zager chooses course he will take next year. He's planning to major in English.

14—The local draft board decides what course Zager will take next year.

17—We have decided to build a monument to Miss Crawley for her patience and good humor in again attempting to penetrate our skulls with the metric system.

18—Sadie George is very apprehensive about the coming summer months. Most of the boys will be in the service.

19—Sadie decides to join the WACS.

20—Parker gets his graduation pictures today and alibies that photographers never do him justice.

21—"Justice!" exclaims Broad. "What you want is mercy."

24—We find it very hard in keeping adults out of the youth center.

25—Two cats were watching a tennis game and one cat says to the other cat, "My mother is in that racket."

26—Isn't that humorous? Mellow told that one.

27—Lynching party chases Jim home.

28—Wonders of all wonders! A blade of grass is seen on the campus.

MAY

1-5—Spring vacation.

8—Student body votes to extend vacation one week. Vote rejected.

9—Miss McGrew tells class book reports are due on Thursday. Gerry Greenwood worried.

10—Gerry goes to the show to see "Jane Eyre."

11—Gerry passes in book report on "Jane Eyre."

12—Surprise inspection. Bouchie and Corkum indignant over receiving ten extra drills.

15—Rumors tell of clash between Miss Moore and Lowe, who wants to sing the song of the Volga boatmen at concert tomorrow.

16—Glee club "Americana" program of all American music huge success. Lowe sings the Volga boat song to interested squirrel at the Cut.

17—Eureka!!! Miss Crawley makes revolutionary announcement that everybody passed her latest test on the metric system.

18—Correction. Miss Crawley apologizes for her erroneous statement. She meant to say NOBODY. We knew it was too good to be true.

19—The mud in the Stadium is only ankle deep now. Drill commences for Field day.

22—Junior Tea. How we seniors are neglected.

23—Annual inspection of the regiment. Bouchie and Corkum advised not to come to drill for the sake of the regiment.

24—O woeful days. We are warned of the final exams to come.

25—Traffic officer to Bowen: You're arrested for speeding. You were going forty miles an hour. Bowen: But, officer, I haven't been out an hour.

26—Davis, wrapped up in his own thoughts, catches cold.

29—Class banquet. Seniors reminisce over the past four years.

30—Memorial Day. The R.O.T.C. parades with the Boy Scouts. Mr. Johnson has a hard time deciding which organization is the best.

31—Last assembly of the year. We seniors feel so-o-o mature as underclassmen rise to honor us as we leave the auditorium.

JUNE

1—P. Steele says she heard some junior say it was in relief.

2—Field Day. The R.O.T.C. struts its stuff both afternoon and evening. Sergeants, however, steal the show from the officers at the dance.

5—With little to do this week but rehearse the graduation program, Alves decides to catch up on some of his homework.

6—Miss Harris admits the coming years are going to be very dull and uninteresting with her favorite English IV class gone.

7—Lowe, Mellow and Silveira say they will write to her. Miss Harris, somewhat reconciled to her fate, can now bravely face the future.

8—Are these G.H.S. seniors, Bill Edson comes to school with a sport shirt and no tie and Louise Selig comes in slacks.

9—We become a little nervous as we realize graduation is but two days off.

10—M. Ellery, our salutatorian, and Mellow, our valedictorian, both develop laryngitis.

11—GRADUATION—A huge success. Jim and Marie in good voice, M. Best and J. Hooper both show tears of happiness. We all get diplomas.

Principal Charles Morrissey has returned from a vacation in Vermont. It is expected that he will resume his duties as principal of the high school next Monday.

Miss Louise Selig, glamorous Powers model, has arrived at her home on Washington Street for a short vacation.

Miss Alice Webber, owner of the exclusive Moderne Shops of Fifth Avenue has recently returned from Paris where she studied the latest Parisian styles, in preparation for her annual style show.

Dr. Sarah Ann Andrews left yesterday for Vienna where she intends to take a course in brain surgery. It is expected that the course will take one year of extensive study and practice.

Miss Marjorie Stanwood, head librarian of the Sawyer Free Library, has recovered from her recent illness.

Lieutenant Melvin Bowen is expected to arrive home soon for a short vacation.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

Edited by Miss Marjorie Best

Dear Miss Best,

I have been happily married for two years now and have been very devoted to my wife, that is until two months ago when she began flirting with the janitor of our apartment house. Is there any hope?

Ans. What are you hoping for?

Dear Miss Best,

My husband has many Byronic mannerisms. What shall I do?

Robertta Ginn

Ans. Tell him to read Pope.

Dear Miss Best,

I am married to a man I first met in high school. He has been loyal to me up to three months ago when I sent him to the grocery store for a loaf of bread. He has not returned since. What shall I do?

Marjorie Green

Ans. Send for another loaf of bread.

Send all letters to Miss Marjorie Best addressed to this paper. She will mend your heart, your broken marriage or your old stockings for only one dime in coin or stamps.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT IN COONEY MURDER TRIAL

In Crime Sensation of Year, Cooney Acquitted
Judge D. K. Davis, Flabbergasted, Admonishes Jury

GLOUCESTER, June 25, 1959 — Coming unexpectedly at promptly 3:10 A.M. this morning, the jury of the now nationally famous Cooney murder trial announced the decision of that body to acquit Matthew Cooney, prominent citizen of this city and president of the G.H.S. class of '44, of all charges brought upon him. Judge D. K. Davis of the district court, flabbergasted over the attitude of the jury and spectators who cheered upon hearing the verdict, held everybody present in contempt of court and fined each 10 dollars. (He later stated that this would soothe his injured dignity.)

Cooney, who has been in police custody since last month, was overjoyed at his release but again asserted his innocence over the recent charges brought to bear upon him. Mrs. Ezra E. Horseface, the former Miss Beverly Black of this city, who charged Cooney with the murder, bravely held the tears back until leaving the courtroom but since then has issued a statement to the press which reads in part: "I hereby charge Cooney, Judge Davis, the entire jury, district attorney Richard Clark, police captain H. Joseph, and everybody else who had any connection with the trial with fraud, perjury, attempt to slander, and also I am suing each for 50 thousand dollars with which I hope to spend the coming winter in Florida."

Mrs. Horseface, the former Miss Black, was the first witness and answered solemnly all questions asked her by her attorney R. Bouchie. The questioning proceeded as follows:

Bouchie: Did you find the body of Polly Horseface?

Mrs. Horseface: Yes, I did.

Bouchie: Describe in your own words the condition in which you found the body.

Mrs. Horseface: Polly was lying across the floor with her neck twisted. There was also blood on her neck.

Bouchie: What relation was Polly to you?

Mrs. Horseface: (Breaking down) My baby, my own little baby. Boo-hoo.

Bouchie: What makes you think that cruel-hearted Cooney killed Polly?

Mrs. Horseface: Well, he is my next door neighbor and I have often heard him threaten Polly.

Bouchie: What reasons did he give?

Mrs. Horseface: He always complained Polly was noisy and would bite him on the nose when he would sleep on his porch.

Bouchie: When did this dreadful thing happen?

Mrs. Horseface: The first day of last month. I was upstairs when I heard the scream and Polly cry, "Help, help! Keep away from me Cooney!" Boo-hoo.

(Mrs. Horseface here collapsed from grief and was carried from the stand.)

No other witnesses were called as Steve Patil, the clerk of court, fell asleep. He was fined 75 dollars for contempt of court by Judge Davis.

The final speech delivered by defense attorney Alves was what is believed by all informed sources to have been the determining factor in the not-guilty decision of the jury. Alves' eloquence brought tears to the jury of eleven women and one unidentified man, believed to be Jack Day. Alves ended his speech with words that are destined to become as immortal as those of Daniel Webster. He said:

"Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, how can people of such intelligence as you think of any verdict other than not guilty? Look at Matthew Cooney! (Cooney, by the way, sat blushing throughout the trial.) Those honest, sincere features! Here is a person who has never done a dishonesty in his life, a person who has never been late for any engagement in his life! Matthew Cooney has always been the perfect gentleman, the perfect friend with whom you could trust your last two bits. Is he capable of murder? I say NO! And if YOU do, you may accept this pass which will entitle you to a lobster dinner at the Cooney home next Saturday and a check for 100 dollars. All free — no box tops, no strings attached. Just mark the little word NO on your ballot. It is the duty of your sacred honor and your patriotism to do this. Will you betray your country by convicting this man? I think the answer is NO! I thank you."

This brought cheers from the jury. Judge Davis fined Alves 50 dollars for such a statement, but it is primarily believed Davis did this because he had not been invited to the lobster dinner. The jury retired with these brave words of Alves ringing in its ears and deliberated until three o'clock this morning, thereby getting in seven and one-half hours of overtime.

When asked what she would do in the future, Mrs. Horseface, the former Miss Black, stated that while she would miss Polly terribly, she knew the dandiest pet shop where she could get another parrot. Anyway, she was counting on her trip to Florida to let her forget this past month of suffering.

AROUND THE TOWN

Ellsworth Johnson was arraigned before district court on charges of assault and battery upon dentist Earl Pike, who supposedly extracted the wrong tooth from the former's jaw.

Miss Louise Cox, eminent social worker, has been spending her vacation here in Gloucester while recovering from excess fatigue incurred at Alcatraz Institute where she has been pioneering in a new program for Sunday afternoon Bible classes.

Phyllis Powers, head of the mathematics department of Riverdale High school, has struck oil in her attempts to drill "The Theory of Unlimited Planes" into the heads of her pupils.

Ways and Means for the rescuing of Raymond Lane, well known flag pole painter, are being carried out by the S.P.C.F.P.P. Mr. Lane has been stranded on the very top of the high school flag pole since last Monday, when his ladder fell to the ground.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Would you kindly tell me who played the role of Leda in Paramount's motion picture, "Death in the Alley." I should appreciate her address, as I want her photograph.

Ed: Send $10. in coin to Shirley Emerson care of Paramount Studios. Personal autograph, $5 extra.

Dear Sir:

I was extremely interested in your recent article upon "Reconstructionism." Has it accomplished anything as yet?

Yours truly

OUTSTANDING LITERARY ARTISTS DRAW CROWDS

Over one thousand people attended the annual high school library benefit to hear some of America's foremost literary artists speak. Acting as chairman, Miss Margaret Strople, librarian, introduced each guest. Priscilla Steele, world famous hostess and author of the current best-seller, "The Gentle Art of Throwing Parties," related a few of the amusing incidents which have occurred at her exclusive and expensive soirees. Acclaimed as one of America's greatest poets since Whitman, Fred Holmberg, winner of the Pulitzer Prize poetry award, spoke on the rise of poetry. Also awarded the Pulitzer Prize for her book, "Rhythm of the Drums," was the next speaker, Nancy Clark, explorer and correspondent. Miss Elizabeth Hall, founder of the Hall Secretarial School, and author of "Secretarially Speaking," gave some of her experiences in the business world. Concluding speaker at the benefit was Miss Marie Ellery, famed journalist and editor of America's most widely read magazine, "Sphinx," who talked about her recent journey into the Gobi Desert with Dr. Edward Goodicks archeological expedition. The benefit, it is believed, brought well over a thousand dollars to the high school library.

MAYOR LAYS CORNER STONE OF NEW BUILDING

GLOUCESTER, June 25, 1959. Mayor Robert Malone today laid the corner stone of the new 21st National Bank of Gloucester while crowds cheered him on and Miss Jean Holmes, first woman bank president in the country, spoke to the noisy throng of "The Importance of the Penny Bank in the Home." Mayor Malone was assisted in his task by Edwin McKay, who mixed the cement.

Malone was first given a box of valuables to place in the corner stone and with due ceremony sealed the box for posterity. The seal, however, had to be broken as Mayor Malone had left his hat in the hollow of the corner stone. The ceremony was performed again with equal pomp only after Mr. McKay rushed to his hardware store for more cement. In the meantime Miss Holmes finished her speech but was neglected by the mayor in all the confusion and was pushed down into the crowd.

Mayor Malone then began one of his nationally known speeches which lasted four and one-half hours. During the last hour light had to be supplied to the mayor so that he might finish reading his speech. Though little could be understood from the context of the speech, it is believed he will offer himself as a candidate for the presidency in opposition to Roosevelt in the coming election. He has announced that his slogan will be "No Seventh Term."

It was interesting to note the three people who stayed until Mayor Malone had completed his speech. One was Donald Greel, who fell asleep on a bench. The other two were Eleanor Karvellas and Phyllis Douglas, who sold pop corn.

SCIENTIST SPEAKS TO ROTARY CLUB

Dr. David J. Lane, eminent toxicologist was the main speaker at a meeting of the Rotary Club held last Monday. Dr. Lane recently returned from a sojourn in Brazil where he did research work on various jungle poisons. In reviewing his adventures in South America, Dr. Lane stated that he had brought back with him valuable information on poisons about which very little was previously known. He cited his research on Leimar, a very powerful drug that is very beneficial to people with heart diseases. Last month Dr. Lane was awarded the Steichen Medical Prize which will enable him to carry on even greater work in his field. Referring to the award, the well known doctor, stated that he intended to carry on his research and that he expected to leave for Africa very soon.

MAN SLOWLY APPROACHING INSANITY CLAIMS PSYCHIATRIST

In a recent address to the Freudian Society of New York, Dr. James R. Mellow, eminent psychiatrist, claimed that man is approaching virtual insanity due to the ever increasing complications and worries which are being forced upon him by a progressive world. "Insanity in the Middle Ages never reached the proportions that are known today," Dr. Mellow stated. "Man in those supposedly dark years never had to worry if the gas was turned off, if the garage door was locked, or if his supply of oil would last. As a result of this, the per cent of insanity was much smaller. With the world progressing at its present rate, the day is not too distant when man will be born insane into an insane world." Dr. Mellow advocated that definite steps should be taken to reduce the causes for nervous tension. He said that "decreasing wars and increasing vacations would be definite aids."

News from Abroad

Word has been received from Ann Marshall who is traveling through Africa in an effort to induce the natives to immigrate to West Gloucester and live the place up. Despite repeated promises of free usage of the Grange Hall, natives remain cold.

Betty Brown reports that she has collected 14 dollars in pennies and 17 cents in stamps from the natives of the Fiji Islands in an effort to establish a Home for Gill-less Fish here in Gloucester.

Ruth Hill writes from the Belgian Congo that she is making some progress in her program for teaching the Hottentots to speak Basic English.

Excellent reports have come from Jacqueline Darcy who is studying the eating habits of the Iceland Eskimos. We think its a lot of blubber.

Ruth Miliner, on behalf of the Ketchum and Skinnun Fur Company, is selling mink coats to the Arabs.

Great relief was expressed when word was received here that Polly Doucette, world's fastest stenographer, was safe. It was previously stated that she had been kidnapped by Chinese Bandits.

It is believed that Captain Bill Edson's recent crack-up in one of the Philippine Islands was caused by a saronged native girl sitting on the beach. Edson claims it was motor disturbances. In any event he is obliged to remain on the island until repairs can be made.

Theatre News

by Mary Calledare

Desiree Eldridge, the film beauty, formerly of Gloucester, is now appearing at the North Shore Theatre in the greatly publicized motion picture, "The Lighted Candle." Miss Eldridge is a graduate of Gloucester High School, in the Class of '44. Incidentally the picture in which she is starring was adapted from a novel written expressly for her by Gregory Randolph, formerly Ralph H. Lowe, Jr., a graduate of the same class.

Miss Jessie Vieira, well-known author of children's books, was the guest speaker at a recent high school assembly. Miss Vieira, whose latest book, "Laurie," is being filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, spoke of some of the incidents and difficulties which took place on the set.

Scheduled to appear at the Guild Theater is Gerald Silveira's greatly acclaimed drama, "Era." The drama, which is in reality an experiment that is comparable to the plays of the late Eugene O'Neil, utilizes a chorus, ballet sequences, and a symphonic orchestra, as well as the usual dramatic actors and actresses. In charge of the extravagant ballet sequences is Richard Hunte, who has become famous as the director of the Metropolitan Opera's Corps de Ballet. Mr. Silveira will personally direct the staging and lighting which is extremely difficult.
